WELL SATISFIED.

By A. LINDSAY GORDON.

Another selection from this writer, together with a sketch of his life, has already been printed in this series.

'VE had my share of pastime, and I've done my share of toll;

And life is short,-the longest life a span. I care not now to tarry for the corn or for the oil, Or for the wine that maketh glad the heart of man. For good undone and gifts misspent and resolutions vain, 'Tis somewhat late to trouble. This I know,-

I should live the same life over, if I had to live again; And the chances are I go where most men go.

The deep blue skies wax dusky, and the tall green trees grow dim; The sward beneath me seems to heave and fall; And sickly, smoky shadows through the sleepy sunlight swim,

And on the very sun's face weave their pall. Let me slumber in the hollow where the wattle-blossoms wave, With never stone or rail to fence my bed.

Should the sturdy station-children pull the bush-flowers on my grave, I may chance to hear them romping overhead.

Ship and Fell Overboard.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NORFOLK: VA., August 22.—To be confined in the brig with log irons fastened around their feet and know that a prison sentence stared them in the face, caused Patrick Kelly, alias Thomas, Kenney, a fireman, second-class, and Irvin H. Moore, a fireman, Arsischase, to make a desperate and successful effort to escape from the receiving ship Richmond here between the hours of 1 and 5 A. M. yesterday.

The men were in the brig on board the receiving ship awaiting to be tried this morning before a general court-martial to have convened on the Franklin. Kelly is charged with having, been discharged as undestrable from the navy as a seamen on board the training ship. Hartford last year under the name of Thomas Kenney and fraudulently re-culisted on board of the Franklin on Asgust 9, under the name of Patrick Kelly, as a fireman, second-class. Moore is charged with having deserted from the, torpedo bont destroyer Stewart. The men made as aw out of one of the steel grummets boat destroyer Stewart. The men men a saw out of one of the steel grumm or bands used for keeping the hat or bands used for keeping the fact in shape and began sawing on the steel bars over the port hole and succeeded in sawing through two of them, one luch square, and drepping from the portside of the ship into the water with the leg from on and making their escape to shore. Immediately after the discovery a general search was instituted, and ery a general search was instituted, and a reward of twenty dollars issued for their return to the ship.

It is thought that the men must have communicated with outside parties and arranged for them to have a boat noar at hand in order to row them off immediately after their escape to the river, as the men have not been heard from.

TICKETS TO BE THROWN OUT

The Case of Kidnapping of Luna Joyner to Come Up in Dinwiddie.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) PETERSBURG, VA., August 22.urious circumstance developed in the second Ward during the primary election to-day. This is the heaviest voting ward in the city. On the ballot were printed the names of three gentlemen who were candidates for membership on the Democratic City Central Committee They had complied with the order of the old committee in handing in their names by a specified vote, and none others had applied for the office. Some objection was raised to the committee's ticket, 'and pasters with other names were placed over them. The question now comes up whether the postor ballots are regular, and whether or not the vote of the ward will be af fected by them. Some persons claim that the ticket is made invalid by these pasters; others that all the committeemen are not nominated, but elected at this primary, the pasters are valid, and the people have a right to vote for whom people have a right to vote for whom they please.

It is said that under certain circumstances, a contest before the State Committee may be made.

It is understood that State Chairman Ellyson was communicated with by one of the regular candidates, who were defeated, and that he said that the pasters should not be counted.

UNDER ARREST

A Band of Nine, Including the

POLICE

Will Not Survive After Six Months-Serious Accident to Judge Horsley.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

LYNCHBURG, VA., August 22.-An aggregation of nine Holiness people, comprising men, women and children, were arrested here this afternoon after refusing to stop their services on the streets or to secure a permit to do so, and the whole company, including a very small baby, went to jall, charged with disorderly conduct. They are reticent relative to themselves, and refuse to say where they come from or to what religious sect they belong.

They declared they had often been arrested, and that never in the past, have the police who arrested them, survived longer than six months, John Ellenburg and wife appear to be at the head of the band. They will have hearing in Police Court to-morrow. Judge John D. Horstey fell down the steps at the Academy of Music last night in trying to save an old gentleman, who had fallen and fractured his check bone. The incident will probably cause him to postpone a trip to Europe, which he was about to begin.
